

Bell Nunnally's depth of experience, breadth of industry contacts, and understanding of the markets where our clients do business enable us to deliver results-oriented services that build communities.

Our clients retain us for a broad spectrum of legal needs including acquisitions and dispositions, development and construction, and commercial leasing and management. Our clients operate in various sectors, including multifamily and residential, commercial, office, industrial, transportation, agricultural, retail and entertainment. We regularly work with owners, landlords, tenants and operators, as well as brokers, agents and lenders.

Using a multidisciplinary approach, our real estate attorneys collaborate with other practice groups to help real estate industry clients with a broad spectrum of legal needs, including entity formation and structuring relationships with project partners, as well as their ongoing operations, from corporate governance and employee relations to insurance and tax matters. We have extensive experience with financing structures and have assisted clients with cross-border transactions and deals involving international parties. And when deals go awry, our litigation team stands ready to protect our clients' interests.
